

The Zone

SENTINEL Property Group has restructured its senior management team, bringing two experienced heads into the company.

As part of the move, general manager Anthony Lattin has left to pursue other interests. His role has been split in two.

Former Brisbane Lions CEO Michael Bowers will be general manager (finance and operations) and ex-Brumby's Bakeries CEO Michael Sherlock (pictured) will be general manager (investors and asset management).

Warren Ebert, founder and managing director of Sentinel, said Mr Lattin had joined three years ago when "we were a small operation with only a handful of properties".

□ □ □

RAY White Metro, a joint venture between the White family and business partners Gary O'Shea and Neville Jensen, has marked its first birthday.

The agency kicked off on July 1 last year with a team of six, and now has a staff of 17, with Richard Porter (formerly of McGees Property) recently joining the commercial leasing team, Liam Morris (formerly Chase Commercial) going to industrial and Kane Boucaut joining commercial leasing.

□ □ □

COLLIERS International has pumped up its hotels division, appointing former CBRE valuer Baden Mulcahy to its valuation team.

Mr Mulcahy has taken on the role of director of valuation hotels, working from the company's Brisbane office.

His post follows the appointment of Stephen Burt to the managing director role of hotels in Colliers' Sydney office, and former Jones Lang LaSalle Hotels executive vice-president Dean Humphries to lead the New Zealand hotels business based in Auckland.